The Race.

Electioneering is now getting lively in the race for office, and the prospects are that the canvass will be an exciting one. Major A. S. Prosser announced himself in yesterday's issue of this paper, and this morning Mr. J. N. Ray presents his claims to the public. Messrs. Williams and King are also on the track from the other side.

More Wheat.

From all quarters we receive the most gratifying assurances of the success of the wheat crop in East Tennessee. We have been shown fine specimens by numbers of farmers, and yesterday Mr. John Chumley, of Beaver Creek, showed us several heads of the Boughton variety, grown on his farm on Beaver Creek, which is equal to any we have yet seen. It will be harvested this week.

For Two Days.

Mike Lipman has changed his programme and will stay in this city two days instead of one, as previously announced. His Mammoth Queen City Circus, Menagerie and Balloon Show will arrive on Friday and give two performances on that day and two on Saturday, also. This is treating Knoxville with due consideration and will enable all within a radius of twenty miles to witness the performances who desire to do so.

Fine Chairs.

Messrs. Ristine & May, who have the contract for the furniture for the Masonic Temple in this city, on yesterday showed us three officers' chairs, made especially for them by Halmes & Co., of Boston, Massachusetts. They are of the Gothic style, made of black horse hair, stuffed with silver nails and ornamented with Masonic emblems. The remainder of the furniture will be manufactured by Messrs. R. & M., and will be in keeping with them.

University Examination.

The semi-annual examinations of the East Tennessee University begin this afternoon and will continue Friday and Monday. All interested are invited to be present.

We understand that Judge Milligan will, by request, deliver an address on the subject of Education before the Trustees and Faculty on next Tuesday night in the Methodist Church on Church street, and will be followed by Judge Nelson, with an address on the subject of the Literary Societies of the University.

The annual contest between the two Societies will take place on Monday night.

On Wednesday, the 19th inst., the commencement exercises will be held in the same church, beginning at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Getting Ready for Work.

Some time ago we stated that several capitalists intended establishing a blast furnace and foundry in this vicinity if sufficient inducements were held out to them to make the investment. We are gratified to state that such inducements have been offered the gentlemen in question. Mr. Charles A. Buckley and others on Saturday purchased ten acres of land from the Anderson estate, situated about a mile and a quarter from town, on the Knoxville and Ohio Railroad. We learn that it is their intention to erect thereon two blast furnaces-work to be commenced within a specified time-to be followed probably by other manufacturing. This will prove an important addition to our manufacturing interests and we hope will believe that the time when Knoxville will be one of the largest manufacturing cities in the South is not many years distant.

Railroad Men in Council.

On yesterday a meeting of prominent Southern railroad officials met at the Atkin House, in this city to arrange a new schedule between Washington City and New Orleans. The following gentlemen were present and participated in the meeting: J. S. Barbour, President of the Orange, Alexandria and Manassas Railroad; C. L. Fitch, General Ticket Agent of the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Railroad; Henry Fisk, General Superintendent of the Atlantic, Ohio and Mississippi Line; A. Shaw, Assistant Superintendent of the North Alabama Railroad; Captain Joseph Jacques, Vice President of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad; M. Stanton, Assistant Superintendent, and J. B. Peck, General Ticket Agent of the Seaboard, Rome and Dalton Railroad; and C. S. Williams, Superintendent of the of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad.

Several changes were proposed but no definite change was made in the present schedule. Further consultation will be held to-day and final action taken.

East Tennessee Female Institute Prizes.

Prizes offered to members of the Institute at the beginning of the collegiate year, concluded on Tuesday, the 11th inst., were awarded by the various faculties, as follows:

A life-size portrait, in oil, for the best crayon drawing in the Senior Drawing Class, by R. M. Dawson, Artist, to Miss Mary B. Temple; a prize for the best pencil drawing in the Junior Class, by J. C. Sturges, to Miss Susan Lyon; for the same in the Senior Class, by M. C. Butler, to Miss Mary Oldham; a complimentary testimonial to Miss Maggie McMillan, of the same class, by O. B. Smith; for the best knowledge of English Analysis and Grammar, by Mrs. R. C. Jackson, to Miss Emily White; for the best knowledge of Latin, by Mrs. M. C. Butler, to Miss Lulu Butler; for the best reading, by Mrs. J. B. Hoxsie, to Miss Adella Armstrong; for the best spelling, by Miss Grace Kimball, to Miss Lulu Butler; for the highest record in punctuality, attendance and deportment, by Mrs. O. P. Temple, to Miss Lizzie Knabe, (perfect in all these regards); for the best impromptu composition, written in thirty minutes, upon a subject assigned by the committee at the time of the examination, by Frank McClintock, to Miss Julia Jackson, whose composition and the next one in merit were read to the audience by W. P. Washburne, Esq.

We make grateful mention of the following gentlemen for their services on committees: Messrs. R. M. Dawson, J. C. Sturges, Chas. Seymour, D. W. Brainard, Rev. J. Howard Smith; Prof. Collins, of Maryville; Prof. Snow, of Massachusetts; and especially W. P. Washburne, Esq., for almost constant attention and ready assistance, even upon my request, taking the entire charge of a class in "Cicero's Orations," as well as participating in the examination of other classes.

Reports from the Records of the Faculty, embracing one year.

Perfect in Deportment-(Absolute non-interference-between pupils during study hours, being one of the requirements.) Misses Emily White, Aimee Knight, Mary B. Temple, Susie Lyon, Lulu Butler and Lizzie Knabe.

Neither absent nor tardy-Misses Belle Luttrell and Lizzie Knabe; Miss Mary B. Temple, only from one rhetorical exercise, from sickness. From no recitation or school duty, but tardy twice: Misses Lillie Lewis and Lizzie Armstrong. Besides these named above, of those whose demerit marks (all excuses absent) are being classed in this record as demerit do not exceed ten, nine pupils, one day's absence of a pupil having three recitations giving five demerit marks.

The highest three in scholarship-Misses Emily White, Lulu Butler and Mary B. Temple. On the scale of 100: the first two, 97; the latter, 95.

Remark-No pupil who has been almost invariably present and punctual, has failed to make good progress.

Deduction-While your daughter is at school let her school duties be her work, to which all forms of recreation and social amusement are subordinate. M. C. BUTLER.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Burning of Colonel G. M. Hazen's Paper Mill.

On Tuesday night the paper mill on Middle Brook, three miles and a half from this city, was destroyed by fire. The mill was owned by Col. G. M. Hazen, whose name is familiar to the newspaper fraternity of the South, and his loss will be regretted by all his old friends.

The fire was discovered about twelve o'clock, but had made such headway that the roof had already fallen in and the building wrapped in flames so that any attempt at staying their progress would have been unavailing. The fire is supposed to have originated in the engine room, and to have been accidental, though the former is only conjecture, for no one slept in the mill and nothing is positively known as to the cause.

The mill was one of the largest in the State and had a capacity for manufacturing 2,000 pounds of paper per day. It was valued at between $20,000 and $25,000 and a short time ago had been entirely refitted, which, with the stock on hand, amounting to five or six thousand dollars, was entirely consumed, which latter will cost Col. Hazen nearly $30,000. The property was insured for $10,000 in the Georgia Home Company.

The mill will be immediately rebuilt, steps having been taken to that effect already. This is well for the creditable energy of Mr. Hazen, and we hope that he will soon be under way again and that his misfortune will prove an incentive and not a drawback to his future career.

Circular.

To the Voters of Knox County:

FELLOW-CITIZENS: By an Act of the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, approved December, 8, 1871, it devolves upon you, at the election, on the first Thursday of August, next, to elect an Attorney General for the county of Knox, whose duty it will be to represent the interests and prosecute in behalf of the people of the State in the Criminal Court of said District.

In obedience to the often expressed desire of many personal and political friends, and in accordance with my own inclination and wishes in the premises, I announced myself some weeks since, a candidate for that important position. According to what I regard the duty of every man who aspires to public confidence and respectability, I take this occasion, and adopt this medium of communicating with my fellow-citizens who have little connection with a judicial contest, in the abstract; and certainly should have nothing whatever to do in the administration of the law-and such shall be the guiding-principle of my official action, if elected; yet that no man may act and vote misunderstandingly, it seems eminently proper to say that I am now, and always have been, a Republican in politics, and although I have no views in my views, I am not liberal enough to vote the Democratic ticket in disguise-sugar-coated with Greeley and Brown.

It is proper, also, to state that my Republicanism is of no recent origin. Born and raised having lived in Knox county, I have been a part of my life. I was neverless taught, from my earliest infancy, to look upon the institution of slavery as a flagrant violation of "The Rights of Man," and am proud to say that I was an original friend of the colored race. This more fact, however, gives me no right to over those who have come to see the interests of men in the same light in which I was taught to regard them from my youth up, and which views have grown with my growth and strengthened with my strength. Several very able gentlemen are already announced as my competitors, and others are perhaps in abeyance, against whom I shall have nothing but the kindest words to utter. I stand not on hereditary rights; nor do I seek an election through the influence of ancestral privileges, but submit my claims to the people, at the ballot box, believing that they have the good sense to accept or reject men for office, because of what they are, and not for what they might have been. Hoping to see and interchange opinions with as many of you as possible between now and the election,

I am yours truly, JAMES N. RAY.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 13.

Meeting at Philadelphia.

Last night there was a large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of Philadelphia to take into consideration several important measures looking to the improvement of the town. The establishment of a school of high grade was unanimously agreed upon, and steps will be taken to secure the erection of a suitable building. Resolutions proposing to change the name of the place were passed, and a committee has been appointed to make the necessary arrangements. This is a much more important matter than it may seem to be to persons at a distance. The business men, who suffer most from the mistakes of mail agents in forwarding letters, as noticed in a former communication, will all go for the change. A few old fogies may oppose it; but it will, no doubt, be done.

As the proceedings will be sent to you for publication, I forbear further remarks. R.

COMMERCIAL.

WHOLESALE MARKET REPORT.

CORRECTED DAILY BY J. W. GAUT.

Produce and Commission Merchant, Market Place, Knoxville, Tennessee.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., June 11, 1872.

Transactions in produce during the past week have been confined to the local trade, except perhaps the shipment of two or three cars of corn at fair prices. All eyes are now turned to the opening of the Wheat trade. Several crops are already engaged deliverable by or before the first of July at $1.50, for prime white.

This verifies our predictions of the first being the best market. All admit that prices must decline as the season advances. With good weather for harvesting and threshing, East Tennessee has the best crop realized since 1857. Let the wheat be well cleaned, carefully handled, (don't mix white, red and trash), and bring your wheat forward promptly and the money pressure will soon be relieved.

Flour continues very dull, and holders anxious to realize.

In bacon we hear of no transactions except for local consumption. Flour is very dull. To effect large sales concessions would be required.
